Checks written and deposited monthly service fee is applied at the end of each month. Each check deposited through Altra Mobile Deposit or Remote Deposit Capture counts towards the monthly transaction volume limits. Both written and deposited checks are counted separately. The ledger entry at the end of the month is also categorized. The daily average balance is the total of all days in a month added together and divided by the number of days. If the daily average balance falls below the minimum required amount, a minimum balance charge will be assessed. See Business Rate Disclosure for Rates and other related fees.
